Una leyenda nazca

Querida Tess, ¿Recuerdas nuestro viaje a Perú? ¿Te acuerdas del a excursión a Nazca? Recuerdo que quedamos muy impresionadas... no sólo por las famosas líneas de Nazca, sino también por el paisaje seco y desértico. Hoy, buscando información en Internet para un trabajo para mi clase de Arte, he encontrado un video con una historia [...]

The screenshot shows the 'Español Santillana' interface for High School Unit 1. The main content area is titled 'México - Empiezan los desafíos' and 'Desafío 4' with the theme 'Expresar estados y sensaciones'. It includes a 'Presentation' section with a bullet point about using the verb estar. Below this is a table of activities and standards.

Activities	Standards
Gramática	1.2, 3.1, 4.1
87.	1.2, 3.1, 4.1
88.	1.2
89.	1.2, 1.3
90.	1.1, 1.2
91.	1.1, 1.2

Below the table are buttons for 'Teaching Suggestions' and 'Differentiated Instruction'. A separate window titled 'Gramática' shows 'El verbo estar' with an explanation of its use and a list of present tense forms.

Differentiated Instruction

DEVELOPING LEARNERS

- Some students may need help remembering the correct forms of irregular verbs.
- Have students divide a piece of paper in half lengthwise. At the top of the page, they should write estar.
  - On one half, have them write the subject pronouns evenly spaced.
  - On the other half of the page, right next to each pronoun, students should write the corresponding form of estar.
- They can fold one side under to test their memory of the verb conjugations or subject pronoun and check their work by opening the paper. This can be used for any verb.

EXPANDING LEARNERS

- With adjectives that express emotion, we use the verb estar. If that emotion is a personality trait we use the same word but with ser. Write two headings on the board: Personalidad and Emoción.
- Give some examples: ser aburrido(a) / estar aburrido(a).
- To help students decide when to use estar versus ser, tell them they can use a test to check if an emotion is involved, in which case they would use estar. If the idea can be expressed in English with the verb to feel, then ser is not used. Try this with vocabulary from Desafíos 2 and 4.

HERITAGE LANGUAGE LEARNERS

- Heritage speakers may find that false cognates are especially tricky. Have students form pairs and work together to develop strategies to avoid mistakes in Spanish that stem from translating directly from English.
- What are some of the pitfalls they can encounter? How can they be prepared to avoid them?

¿Por qué la Tierra actúa como un imán?

Desde muchos siglos, los navegantes cruzaron el mar con sus brújulas sin saber por qué indicaban el Norte. Hoy ya sabemos que nuestro planeta es un imán gigantesco, debido a que en su interior hay materiales magnéticos y que, como todos los imanes, tiene dos polos. Cada uno de ellos se encuentra situado muy cerca de uno de los polos geográficos. Esto hace que cada uno de los polos de la Tierra atraiga al polo opuesto de la aguja de la brújula.

In the United States there are many Irish people whose ancestors arrived many, many years ago. They brought with them the custom of celebrating their saint's day. Today, St. Patrick's Day is celebrated with parades and parties in more than 100 cities in the United States!

One of the biggest, most colorful St. Patrick's Day parades takes place in New York City. They say that Irish soldiers held the first St. Patrick's Day parade in New York. That was many years ago, in 1762.

A Story About

The Hummingbird That Wanted to Go to the Party

Once there was a bee hummingbird that wanted to go the party given by the biggest birds in the forest. But she wasn't invited because of her size.

"I've got to do something to get an invitation," she said to herself, preening her feathers and flying into the light to show off her beautiful iridescent colors. But the big birds didn't even notice her. So the little hummingbird polished her beak and landed on a branch near where the party was being set up. She began to sing her best song.

ELD/Intervention

Santillana USA's ESL/ELD programs are standards based, student centered, and content focused, promoting English language acquisition and literacy. From Summer School and after-school programs, to year-long intervention, our resources support teachers and English Language Learners throughout the language acquisition process.

*"I like that the program covers many different content areas, including math, science, social studies, and of course, literacy. Because I teach ESL, I must assist my students in learning their regular curriculum of studies, and Spotlight on English makes it so easy for me to teach these content areas in a manner that maximizes student retention and progress. I am grateful to Santillana for providing me and other teachers like me with a surefire way of meeting city and state educational standards."*

Santillana Spotlight on English

Intervention Program for Success in Literacy and Content

Direct, structured, and inclusive language instruction

- Based on current scientific research
- Aligned to National Curriculum and Content-Area Standards
- Designed with a content-rich framework—language arts, math, science, social studies, music, and art

Spotlight on English empowers ALL learners with the academic language and literacy needed to access grade-level content.

"I love this program because it targets different proficiency levels and instructs the teacher in methods of adapting a basic lesson plan to suit different classes. It spells out the lesson plans and makes my prep work much easier than it used to be. My students have responded very well, even those who only recently came to the U.S. from other countries. It also allows me to adapt the lessons to meet the needs of students with different intelligence levels. This takes the guesswork out of differentiation."

—David Savitt, ESL Teacher
P.S. 92, Brooklyn, NY

Spotlight on English Reader's Theater

Improve your emerging and developing readers' fluency and literacy skills through theater and role-play!

By combining a reading selection with elements of performance, Reader's Theater appeals to ELLs' sense of play—sparking their interest and encouraging them to engage with the text!

- Script incorporates narration, character dialogue, and stage directions
- Students “act out” the script by reading aloud, following the teacher’s modeling
- Songs and music help engage students and develop oral fluency!

Active Reading Questioning Strategies

READING COMPREHENSION

Developing

- Recall Why does Raúl want to skip breakfast?
Remind students that recall questions ask them about something they have just read in the text.

Expanding

- Comparing and Contrasting How is Dad's view of breakfast different from Raúl's?
Explain to students that comparing is telling how two or more things, events, or characters are alike, and contrasting is telling how two or more things, events, or characters are different.

More Complex

- Making Inferences Why might Dad want Raúl to think about last week's game?
Remind students that when they make inferences, they use clues from the text and what they already know to figure out something that is not directly stated or explained.

Narrator: Raúl stopped at the kitchen door.
Raúl: Dad, I'm not really hungry after all. I want to go outside and practice my swing.
Dad: Raúl, I really think you should eat breakfast. You're going to need all the energy you can get.
Raúl: No, I'll be fine.
Dad: I'm not so sure about that. Remember last week's game?

Active Reading Questioning Strategies
READING COMPREHENSION

Developing
► Recall How did Raúl start feeling in the third inning?

Expanding
► Main Idea and Details What details support the idea that Raúl was tired? Explain to students that the main idea is the most important point the author makes in a story or paragraph. In order to support the main idea, authors use details in other sentences that may describe, give reasons and definitions, and provide other types of information. Here, two details that support the idea that Raúl is tired are "His feet began to feel like steel weights" and "His bat felt like a ton of bricks."

More Complex
► Sequence What events happened in the fourth inning? Use the words first, next, and last to tell the events. Explain to students that sequence questions ask about the order of events in a story or a scene.

Narrator 1: Raúl thought back to last week's game.
Narrator 2: He played well in the first few innings.
Narrator 1: But he did not play as well in later innings.
Narrator 2: Raúl started feeling tired by the bottom of the third inning.
Narrator 1: His feet began to feel like steel weights. His bat felt like a ton of bricks.
Narrator 2: During the fourth inning, Raúl was caught in a run-down. He ran back and forth between first and second base.
Narrator 1: Soon, Raúl couldn't run anymore and he got tagged out.
He walked back to the dugout with his head hung low.

SPANISH AS A WORLD LANGUAGE & SPANISH FOR NATIVE SPEAKERS

Metodología de la enseñanza de español como lengua extranjera en la primaria*

978-1-61605-395-6 | Level: K-5

This session explores the basic principles of foreign language teaching as they apply to the teaching of Spanish in the elementary classroom and to the learning processes that are associated with second language acquisition, communicative competency, and cultural competency. Participants discuss effective techniques for assessing and evaluating students and learn about resources available to enhance teaching and learning Spanish at the elementary level.

* Offered in Spanish

Gramática y ortografía para la escuela primaria y secundaria (Grammar, Spelling, and Punctuation for Elementary and Secondary Spanish Teachers)

978-1-61605-398-7 | Level: K-5

978-1-61605-399-4 | Level: 6-12

This session addresses common grammatical issues secondary Spanish heritage learners encounter and strategies to help address them. Participants benefit from a review and clarification of basic and advanced grammatical and linguistic concepts, including the teaching and learning of spelling and punctuation, verb conjugations, common grammatical and linguistic inaccuracies, and common errors of heritage speakers living in the U.S. (e.g. Spanish/English false cognates, accent rules, language variation, etc.).

Metodología de la enseñanza del español como lengua materna*

978-1-63113-592-7 | Levels K-12

The session provides teachers of heritage Spanish speakers with research-based instructional strategies proven effective when teaching heritage Spanish speakers. Participants learn about the influence of culture on teaching and learning: cross-cultural learning on cultural identity, the transcultural experience, cultural competency and mediation, and cross-cultural communication. The session also explores six categories of language learning strategies: cognitive, metacognitive, memory-related, compensatory, affective, and social (Oxford, 2001).

Learning in Three Modes: Building Communicative Competence in the Spanish World Language Classroom

978-1-68292-243-9

Participants will learn effective instructional strategies to develop student competence in the Interpersonal, Interpretive and Presentational modes of communication as set out in the World-Readiness Standards for Learning Languages (ACTFL, 2015). The session will include suggestions for selecting materials, designing effective activities, and managing the new demands of the communicative classroom.

ESL/ELD, BILINGUAL, AND DUAL-LANGUAGE SESSIONS

Reading Strategies for the Second Language Classroom (ESL/ELD)

978-1-60396-705-1 | Level: K-12

The acquisition of reading skills is vital to the development of literacy in any language. This session discusses pre-, during, and post-reading strategies and approaches that make scaffolded reading instruction comprehensible to ALL students, especially students who have had interrupted formal education (SIFE). Participants learn the appropriate use of high-interest, low-difficulty reading selections.

Sheltered Instruction Strategies for Language and Content Workshop*

Level: K-12

Session focuses on language and content sheltered instruction and explores proven-effective, research-based planning tools for working with ELL in elementary classrooms or secondary content area classrooms. This is a three-day session (full days) workshop, presented either concurrently or separately.

*$3,500 per day for 35 participants. $50 per day for each additional participant.

Session 1 (Day 1) 978-1-62263-144-5

Participants learn effective strategies for planning and preparation: how to select and use appropriate basal and supplemental instructional materials, adapt content to different levels of ELL proficiency, and deliver lessons. They also learn about comprehensible input, and how it is used to inform explanations of academic tasks, and the application of a variety of classroom techniques to make content concepts clear (such as modeling, visuals, hands-on activities, demonstrations, experiments, gestures, and body language).

Session 2 (Day 2) 978-1-62263-145-2

Participants learn how to use effective teaching strategies to ensure comprehensible input. They create content and language objectives and opportunities for students to use learning strategies themselves. Participants also learn a variety of scaffolding techniques, including literacy support and the consistent use of scaffolding throughout instruction.

Session 3 (Day 3) 978-1-62263-146-9

Participants learn to incorporate additional teaching strategies that focus on building background knowledge and activating prior knowledge, such as grouping configurations that support both language and content learning and clarifications in both L1 and L2. They also learn how to incorporate practice and application activities that reinforce language and content objectives and explore ways to review the objectives, including targeted vocabulary (both subject area/technical and academic vocabulary) and key concepts and ideas. The session also addresses the use of formative and summative assessments to evaluate students.

Theory and Practice of Language Acquisition

9781631135934 | Levels K-12

The session focuses on the current research framework that supports high-quality, effective teaching and learning practices in the classroom: First v. Second Language Acquisition, Factors that Affect Language Acquisition in the Classroom, the Affective Filter, Language Proficiency and Leveling, Thomlinson's Differentiated Instruction, and others. Participants explore teaching and learning strategies based on this framework, and are presented with hands-on, classroom-tested examples, as well as samples of instructional materials that support this methodological framework.

ESL/ELD, BILINGUAL, AND DUAL-LANGUAGE SESSIONS (cont'd.)

Comprehensible Input and its Implications to the Bilingual, ESL and Spanish Classroom

9781631135941 | Levels K-12

This session focuses on Second Language Acquisition theories as presented by researchers (Krashen, 1981; Krashen & Terrell, 1983), including Jim Cummins's distinction between two types of language: basic interpersonal communications skills (BICS) and cognitive academic language proficiency (CALP). Participants learn how these theories can help develop effective instructional strategies and assessments that guide students along a continuum of language development—from cognitively undemanding, context-embedded curricula to cognitively demanding, context-reduced curricula (Robson, 1995).

Instructional Learning Strategies for the Bilingual/ESL Classroom

9781631135958 | Levels K-12

This session explores the meaning of bilingualism and effective bilingual language program models, including transitional, dual-language, one way and two-way bilingual, among others. Participants examine key factors in the development of bilingual programs, implementation issues, materials that most effectively support L1 and L2 oral language and literacy development, and common transferable elements of L1 to L2 literacy. Participants learn how to develop effective instructional units and compare, contrast, and evaluate examples of curriculum mapping, lesson designs and model lessons.

Principles of Interactive Instruction

9781631135965 | Levels K-12

This session explores activity-based teaching and focuses on how teachers can recognize what each learner brings to the classroom and the role they play in their own language acquisition process. Since research on learning and memory (Sprenger, 1999), on language acquisition and language learning (Cameron, 2001), and on the functions of the brain (Genesee, 2000) confirms ELL are actively constructing schema (organizational structures of language and content) and meaning, instruction should motivate students to take active roles in their own learning. Participants will learn how communicative teaching and learning focuses on authentic, comprehensible, and interactive communication through a variety of channels: teacher/student, student/teacher, student/student, student/students, etc.

Developing Cross-Cultural Awareness and Multicultural Understanding

9781631135972 | Levels K-12

This session explores the importance of multiculturalism and pluralism in the classroom and ways to better understand and serve different student populations. Participants examine Banks's (1997) dimensions of multicultural education and discuss the importance of cultural differences, strategies to appropriately respond to these differences, how cultural differences may impact learning in math, science, and social studies; and how to apply these principles to their own instruction.

ESL/ELD, BILINGUAL, AND DUAL-LANGUAGE SESSIONS (cont'd.)

Teaching Language, Literacy, and Content to High Quality Standards

9781631135989 | Levels K-12

This session explains what high-quality standards* are and their instructional implications in the classroom, particularly as they relate to ELL, Spanish Language Arts, and Spanish as a World Language instruction. Participants examine the principles of standards-based instruction: instruction that (a) is comprehensible, (b) is grade level and developmentally appropriate, (c) is of the same rigor and scope and sequence as the instruction received by English speakers, and (d) takes into consideration language and cultural differences. Participants compare and contrast state and national content standards* and explore ways to address and implement these standards in the classroom.

* ELA Common Core Standards, the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills Standards, the ACTFL Standards, WIDA Standards, etc. Each session is tailored to either teachers of ELL (ESL/ELD, bilingual, or dual-language), teachers of Spanish as a World Language or teachers of Spanish for Spanish speakers (heritage speakers).

Applying Depth of Knowledge (DOK) for Effective Lesson Delivery with Content/Language Objectives

9781631135996 | Levels K-12

This session focuses on the research framework that supports the teaching and learning of language and literacy through the application of Webb's Depth of Knowledge methodology. Webb (1997) developed a process and criteria for systematically analyzing the alignment between standards and standardized assessments, called Depth of Knowledge (DOK). The DOK model can be used to analyze the cognitive expectation demanded by standards, curricular activities, and assessment tasks (Webb, 1997). Participants will explore how the DOK model can be applied to the bilingual, ESL, and Spanish classroom, and how teachers can learn to ascribe a cognitive demand level and DOK category in order to differentiate language and content instruction for second language learners.

ESL/ELD, BILINGUAL, AND DUAL-LANGUAGE SESSIONS (cont'd.)

Review and Assessment in the Bilingual, ESL, and Spanish Classroom
9781631136009 | Levels K-12

This session examines the research behind assessing English language and grade-level academic proficiency in ELL, including the Thomas & Collier (1997) research findings. Participants are introduced to a variety of measurement strategies and approaches, including how to use individual, classroom, and school-wide achievement data to gauge ELL progress in acquiring language and content knowledge. Practical, hands-on activities encourage participants to create and implement assessment and evaluation tools for both formative and summative purposes. Participants explore the role of statewide assessments in measuring ELL progress, and how to best prepare the students for high-stakes evaluations of English language, literacy, and content.

Engaging ELL Students through H.O.T.S.
9781631136016 | Levels K-12

This session examines the research base and theory behind accelerating student achievement through rigorous and relevant instruction that actively engages students in higher-order thinking (Krathwohl, 2002; Pogrow, 1995; 2002; 2004; 2004a; Bartos & Banks, 2015). Participants select instructional strategies based on student achievement data that supports ELL student mastery of high-quality standards (such as the ELA Common Core Standards and the Texas TEKS).

Teaching Millennial Students
9781631136023 | Levels K-12

This session presents the characteristics and needs of millennial students, identified as those children born between 1981 and 2004 (Novotney, 2010; Howell & Strauss, 2000; Stewart & Bernhardt, 2010; and Wilson, 2004). Participants explore the implications of these factors on teaching in ESL, bilingual, dual-language and Spanish as a World Language and/or Spanish for Spanish speakers program models, and learn second language strategies that capitalize on the strengths of millennial students to help increase student achievement.
